tains the quiet tone of the past few days, and there is scarcely anything of moment to note. Figur has the regular trade de

to note. Flour has the regular irade demand, and prices remain steady and firm for the upper qualities. Wheat is in very little inquiry, buyers anticipating lower figures. There was no cosential change in prices to day, but very little was done, and the market-closed heavy. Corn is obsally sand firm. Oats are steady, but hardly so firm. There was a fair demand to day in the Provision line from the teade, at unchanged prices. Butter is moving only in a small way, but prices continue from the teade, at unchanged prices.
